HumasUPNVJ - The achievements of #belanegara friends are increasing from time to time, judging from the many achievements of each faculty. Students take advantage of this pandemic period by actively participating in productive activities to hone their talents and skills. One of the representative teams from the UPNVJ Faculty of Social and Political Science S1 Political Science, namely Bilal Sukarno and Fathurrahman Saleh won 2nd place in the poster competition and became a finalist in the essay competition in the Chemistry Fair Born For Nationalism (Carbon 3.0) 2021 competition. Carbon competition activities 3.0 was organized by the Chemistry Student Association, Jambi University, there were two branches of competition in this activity, namely poster and essay competitions.

From Bilal and Fathurrahman's written statement, their team managed to qualify for the final stage. The series of events started from 01 March 2021 – 27 March 2021, starting with the process of submitting works and being directly selected by the Carbon 3.0 team, after that, their team presented the posters they had compiled before the jury via zoom meeting to be assessed.

Bilal and Fathurrahman represented UPNVJ to compete with participants from various campuses in Indonesia, including: Gajah Mada University, Jambi University, Bandung Institute of Technology, Jambi Ministry of Health Polytechnic and several other campuses. With their persistence, Bilal and Fathurrahman won 2nd place in the poster category and became finalists in the essay competition.

They advised other #belanegara friends, hopefully this can motivate them to be active and will later have a good impact on UPNVJ's active students, especially for S-1 Political Science students
