

UPNVJ Chancellor: There Are Bigger Tasks After Accreditation

Saturday, 26 June 2021 09:08 WIB

HumasUPNVJ - Chancellor of the Jakarta Veterans National Development University (UPNVJ) Dr. Erna Hernawati, Ak, CPMA, CA said that there is a bigger task after the study program gets accreditation, namely to meet the expectations of students and parents of students for superior educational services.

"This is our commitment as a state university. Students who enter require serious management. What needs to be repaired is our commitment. We hope that students and parents will not disappoint those who entrust their children to us," Erna said in closing the online field assessment of the S Study Program. -1 Nursing and Nursing Profession Study Program by the Independent Accreditation Institute for Health Higher Education (LAM-PTKes) at the UPNVJ Limo Campus, Depok, Friday (25/2/2021).

Erna expressed her commendation to the accreditation team for the Bachelor of Nursing Study Program and Professional Nurse Study Program who have made every effort to prepare everything needed for the assessment. He hopes that all the things that have been prepared will give the desired results.

Dean of the Faculty of Health Sciences UPNVJ Dr. drg. Wahyu Sulistiadi, MARS also hopes that the LAM-PTKes assessment process for the Bachelor of Nursing Study Program and the Professional Nurse Study Program will get an optimal assessment.

"This noble task has been completed. We will leave the results to the Almighty. This is the first time accreditation has been carried out online, so the team has made extra preparations," he said.

Wahyu advised the Undergraduate Nursing Study Program and Professional Nurse Study Program to carry out the inputs provided by the assessors during the assessment process.

"So that students get superior service and continue to improve from time to time," he said.

LAM-PTKes conducted an online field assessment of the Bachelor of Nursing Study Program and the Professional Nurse Study Program for four days, namely Tuesday (22/6/2021) to Friday (25/6/2021) with assessor Fitri Arofiati, S.Kep., Ns., MAN, Ph.D; Purwanta, S.Kp., M.Kes; and Yunita Sari, S.Kep., Ns., MHS., Ph.D.

Assessor Fitri Arofiati said that the preparations made by the accreditation team were very helpful. Even if there are still shortcomings, he considers it a natural thing.

"Whatever the result is, this is a process of development. Quality must be continuously honed. What is already good must be maintained, modified, made attractive and become a superiority that is different from other universities," he said.
