HumasUPNVJ - Today ((Monday, 4/4/22), Jakarta Veterans National Development University is carrying out a medical test intended for prospective new students through the 2022 National Selection for State University Entrance (SNMPTN) specifically for the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Public Health Sciences This health test was carried out at the UPNVJ Polyclinic, Campus 1, Pondok Labu, South Jakarta.

UPNVJ 2022 new student admissions coordinator, Fajar Nugroho, explained that the medical test process was carried out through very thorough preparation, "To prepare for today's health test activities, we made preparations from one week before the D-day by making announcements / information starting from the schedule to the flow that students must follow as clearly as possible, through the website penmaru.upnvj.ac.id and all UPNVJ social media for all students to know. Apart from that, we have also prepared approximately ten teams on duty, providing forms /files needed for administrative processes, providing inspection forms, queue numbers, payment receipts, supporting infrastructure such as health protocol tools (barcode scans care about protecting), thermometers. guns , gloves, etc.) and chairs in the waiting room, so that the existing health programs at UPNVJ are also properly implemented in accordance with the government's directives, "explained Fajar in his interview with the UPNVJ Public Relations team.

"So far, there are actually no significant obstacles, but there are a number of freshmen who experience difficulties in the urine test process, maybe they are not ready to urinate so we provide a solution to move their bodies more often or we ask the person in question to open their shoes and then splash them/ soak with water so as to facilitate the process of examining urine. And after the inspection process is complete, we invite freshmen to follow (follow) all UPNVJ social media accounts and diligently read the penmaru.upnvj.ac.id website to get further information regarding the process of admitting new students in 2022, "concluded Fajar .
