HumasUPNVJ - Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, Jakarta "Veteran" National Development University (FISIP UPNVJ) is exploring cooperation with one of the national television industry media. This time, FISIP UPNVJ received ANTV national television representatives in discussing partnership opportunities which would later be realized through a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU).

"We are very happy to welcome Mrs. Eka and Mrs. Hera at UPN's FISIP. Incidentally, we have just restructured the cabinet which is currently present at this meeting," said the Dean of FISIP Dr. S Bkti, in the FISIP Dean's meeting room, Tuesday, July 11 2023.

Eka Sophiani as a representative from ANTV explained her intention and visit to FISIP UPNVJ. He explained how the transformation of the national television industry was the impact of the policy change from analog system to digital system.

"We offer various collaboration programs that might be explored. Starting from the Cool Campus program, cool classes and industrial internship programs," said Eka.

Fitria Ayuningtyas, Deputy Dean I, explained the need for students to do internships in the industrial world since the Free Campus Learning Program (MBKM).

"First, we are very happy if the world of industry and campuses can collaborate like this. There will be many benefits that can be obtained by both," said Fitria.

Musa Maliki, Deputy Dean III as PIC of cooperation at FISIP UPNVJ, said that the draft MoU on cooperation would be prepared soon. "After this, I will prepare a draft of the MoU and hope we can meet again to make an official signing," concluded Musa.

The cooperation exploration program was attended by Eka Sophiani (SPV Corporate Communication) and Hera Andini (Corporate Communication Staff) as ANTV representatives. Meanwhile from FISIP UPNVJ, attended by almost all lecturers with additional assignments starting from S.
