

Deepening MBKM Program Cooperation, LP3M UPNVJ Receives a Visit from Unand

Wednesday, 25 October 2023 10:03 WIB

Public Relations UPNVJ - Andalas University (Unand) and the Jakarta "Veteran" National Development University (UPNVJ) deepened cooperation in the Independent Campus Learning Program (MBKM) through a working visit carried out by the Unand delegation to the UPNVJ Quality Management and Development Institute (LP3M) today. (25/10)

The event began with a warm welcome from the Head of LP3M UPNVJ, Satria Yudhia who introduced the heads of LP3M centers (kapus) and the teams involved in MBKM UPNVJ. He provided a brief overview of the External Quality Assurance System (SPME) and Internal Quality Assurance System (SPMI) which have been implemented at UPNVJ.

The event then had an in-depth discussion regarding the MBKM Program at UPNVJ. This discussion was guided by the Head of MBKM Headquarters and the MBKM UPNVJ team. The team from Unand seemed enthusiastic about participating in this discussion, gaining a better understanding of the implementation of the MBKM program at UPNVJ.

The MBKM Head of Campus, together with the team, explained various aspects of the MBKM program, from internship opportunities to partnerships with industry. They also highlight how MBKM can help students develop practical skills and knowledge relevant to current industry needs.

The delegation from Unand showed deep interest in the UPNVJ MBKM Program. They expressed their intention to strengthen this collaboration and enable Unand students to get the same benefits as UPNVJ students through MBKM.

This visit not only strengthens relations between the two universities, but also opens up opportunities for students from both institutions to increase their experience in the world of work through the innovative MBKM program.
