While the head of the event, Panca Hartanto admitted that behind the success of an event there must be some difficulties one faced regarding time, "It's not easy for us to hold 1 activity that is non-profit in nature, which means it's really a social organization which is very difficult to gather committee friends in terms of time to share experience. So there is communication that is cut off and the job desk cannot be carried out," he said.

Apart from that, Panca also advised students who are still in college to always be enthusiastic and graduate on time. "Study on time and don't forget to organize because organizations can mature our attitude and mentality in taking and positioning ourselves when facing the real world. Because the experience of organizing really helps us in terms of confidence, insight and solving problems. he said during an interview. The father of 2 children also advised that he should continue to maintain the good name of the veteran UPN Jakarta alma mater.
